CLEMSON, S.C. – Clemson University's International Center for Academic Integrity (ICAI) will be hosting its annual International Conference on Academic Integrity, with the theme of Integrity in the Real World, from February 26 – March 1, 2015 at the Renaissance Vancouver Harbourside Hotel in Vancouver, British Columbia.

ICAI is pleased to announce that the Call for Papers is now open and submissions are being accepted until 11:59 PM EST on Friday, October 17, 2015. Submitters of papers and proposals selected for presentation will be notified no later than Monday, November 17, 2015. Proposal submissions will be completed online and can be accessed at <http://www.AcademicIntegrity.org/icai/events-1.php>.

Proposals are most welcome on the following subjects:

- Integrity beyond academia
- Establishing and nurturing cultures of integrity in schools around the world
- Discouraging, reducing, and dealing with instance of cheating
- Promoting scholastic and research integrity
- Technology and academic integrity

“Among the challenges we face in promoting and building cultures of integrity is the unfortunate perception that many students believe that what happens at schools and universities is different and disconnected from what happens ‘in the real world,’” says ICAI executive director Dr. Teresa Fishman.

“So that we may better understand and articulate the connection between academic integrity and integrity issues in other contexts, presenters will be invited to explore the connections between the work we do with students and ethical issues in the world at large.”
